

Supplementary Figure 3. Experimental plan and outcomes. Ferrets were infected intranasally with influenza B virus then challenged at various time intervals (3, 10 or 28 days later) with a strain from a different influenza B virus lineage. Control ferrets had no primary infection. Virus shedding was assessed daily in nasal washings.

